Southeastern FCU Holds Grand Opening for New Headquarters

Valdosta, Georgia – Southeastern Federal Credit Union held its grand opening for their new headquarters and branch office located at 3501 North Valdosta Road.

The four-day event was held February 17th through February 20th with the ribbon cutting ceremony taking place on Wednesday the 18th. Local dignitaries, members of the press, and the Credit Union's Board of Directors and management team were present for the ceremony. After a brief presentation from Lee Morgan, President/CEO, the occasion was concluded with pictures, tours of the new facility, and a reception. Approximately 70 people were in attendance.

The new facility is 25,000 square feet in size and houses Southeastern FCU's fifth branch office. The building's facade is designed to make a statement to the community and exemplify what the Credit Union represents: strength, stability, and high quality member service. The retail-style lobby welcomes members with a greeter station and displays several LCD screens, banners and posters that promote the Credit Union's products and services. Five drive-thru outlets and a drive-up ATM are available to give members added convenience. In addition, a large boardroom is located on the second floor that can be transformed into a training room. An open patio for hosting employee and community functions is located adjacent to the boardroom over the drive-thru.

"We are very proud of our new headquarters and branch office and what it will provide our membership," says Lee Morgan, President/CEO. "We look forward to many, many years in this facility as it enhances the service we provide our members in Valdosta and enables us to continue our growth in South Georgia."
